WHAT IS A LISTENING SESSION?

A Listening Session is a LBCC facilitated discussion where faculty members share their experiences, perspectives, and concerns related to racism and social justice at LBCC. Add a Listening Session to your calendar.

Each Listening Session is facilitated by a group of faculty members (facilitators) and a group of faculty members (participants):

- Bi/Multiracial
 (Note: this group is for people who are biologically connected to more than one racial group)
- Black/African American
- Latinx
- Pacific Islander/Asian/Desi
- White

DIALOGUE OBJECTIVES:

- Share meaningful experiences with racism and racial justice within the LBCC community
- Build connections with others who share a racial identity
- Practice building intentional culture where discussion and reflection of racial identities, racism, and racial justice occur routinely and honestly
